CURRENT NOTES.

Bradley, Marsh & Co. have placed no under obligations for late papers.

The steamer Ajax is advertised to sail for San Francisco to-morrow at 5 P. M.

The bark Alden Bessie was advertised to leave San Francisco for this port to-day.

This lovely weather gives every one the blues, and times are necessarily dull.

It was the Emma Hayward that brought up the mail and passengers from the Ajax last evening.

"Gone to Prayer Meeting" was a placard hung on Thos. Carleton's saloon door a couple of hours yesterday afternoon. The ladies did not call there.

Ten dollars an hour is what a saloon keeper offered to give the ladies to use his establishment as their headquarters during their temperance crusade.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Wm. A. Hart, of the Metropolitan Cigar Store, returned on the steamer last evening from San Francisco. He brings with him a new and select stock of goods, which are worth the attention of all parties interested.

Jacob Strauss, of the firm of Lewis & Strauss, of the White House, returned from San Francisco last evening. The ladies will find many new novelties in the stock purchased by him.

Simon Harris, of the firm of Harris & Blum, returned from San Francisco last evening, having in charge a choice and well selected stock of dry goods.

C. M. Cartwright, of Marion County, is registered at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, in this city.

A DANGEROUS CHARACTER.—Our readers will recollect that a few weeks since we published an account of a man being arrested for insulting ladies in the street. He was sentenced to twenty days confinement in the County Jail, and was discharged a few days since, his time being out, after lying his trial Thos. J. Johnson, of this city, was examined as a witness, his testimony being much against the prisoner. Yesterday morning, while in the western part of the city, this man met and accosted him in an insulting manner, reminding him of his part in the prosecution, and at the same time drawing a knife some seven inches in length and making several desperate efforts to plunge it into his person. Having nothing about him but a small brass suction pump with which to ward off the blows, vibrated toward a neighboring wood pile where he secured a billet, and soon had his man under control. Captain Fisk coming to his assistance the man was bound and conducted to Police headquarters, where he was tried, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for nine days.

INCORPORATED.—J. A. Strowbridge, T. M. Reddin and C. H. Woodard filed yesterday, at the office of the County Clerk, articles incorporating the Pacific Wharf and Warehouse Company, with a capital stock of $15,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The object of the company is to build, own, lease or sell, a large and commodious wharf on the bank, south of Taylor street, claiming the right to purchase, lease, or occupy and sell, wharf dispens of any real or personal property on said levee, and charge and collect tolls, wharfage, etc. We learn that the first structure will be built between Salmon and Main streets. In common with all enterprises inaugurated with an eye to the future prosperity of our city, we wish the new company abundant success.

FIREMAN'S BALL.—Last evening a large number of our belles and beaux assembled at the new and elegant engine house of Tiger Engine Company, No. 5, and passed the evening in gliding the mazy waltz and merry dance. To beautiful music the treading of the happy participants furnished a dazzling picture, reminding the observer of a fairy dance in a Christmas play. The party was gotten up by the members of the company, who may justly feel proud of this the first social party ever given in their handsome hall, as its success and pleasures were apparent on the smiling faces of the entire party, and we hope the boys who man the engine that's housed on the hill will often repeat the occasion, with its pleasures and mirth.

BASE BALL.—The members of the Pioneer Base Ball Club met at Buchtel & Stolte's photograph gallery, with a view of perfecting arrangements for the coming season. The attendance was somewhat limited and business was confined chiefly to the election of several new members, after which the meeting adjourned to meet again the first Monday in April, when a complete organization will undoubtedly be effected. It is to be hoped that Portland will have at least, if not more, first-class clubs this year, thereby warranting some exciting games over the championship of the city or State, as the case may be.

IMPORTANT PREMIUMS.—The Secretary of the State Agricultural Society informs us that he has just received a letter from James Vick, the great seedsman and florist of Rochester, N. Y., offering to distribute $1 State Fair $50 in coin premiums, at our request, and by the Society as follows: Best collection of vegetables, $20; second Best collection, $10; Best collection of fruit, $20; second premium, $10; fourth best, $5. A general premium of $5 is established. These premiums will be given, and Mr. Vick will forward to the Secretary a check for the amount named, upon receipt of notice of such publication.

NEW LODGE.—D. G. W. C. T., S. W. Ryan, organized on Monday evening, March 23d, North Portland Lodge, No. 201, I. O. G. T., and installed the following officers: W. C. T., J. B. Roberts; W. V. T., Edith J. Sutherland; Secretary, Wallace D. Struble; Financial Secretary, Enoch Turnbain, T. L. Sells; Treasurer, H. Grenfell; Guard, Henry Brown; Sentinel, Geo. H. Fox; L. D., J. M. Jones. The Lodge meets Monday evenings, at Moore's Hall, corner Ninth and D streets.

MARK TWAIN'S LAST BOOK.—"The Gilded Age," Mark Twain's last book, is the best, on the whole, of all this humorist's efforts at book-making. The satire, throughout, is very good. The hits at the follies of the time are original and inimitable. J. S. Barrett is agent at Portland. The book is sold by subscription, and cannot be procured otherwise. It is a prodigious success, and its sales are without precedent.

WOMEN VS. WHISKY.

The truth of the assertion, that "There's nothing new under the sun," was hardly verified on our streets yesterday—at least such thought that were never before witnessed in the city of Portland,—the novelty of which was sufficient to draw out an immense crowd, who rushed pell mell from place to place, eager to be eyewitnesses to a spectacle opposite to accustomed itself. The ladies interested in the temperance crusade were out in increased numbers, and their movements presented a number of new features. The band numbered thirteen strong, and made the first appearance in the afternoon. The plan adopted on the previous day, in which the ladies moved along in twos and threes, had not, it seems, proved exactly the thing, and the desired result was not arrived at. The little bands had, indeed, met with some success at best, and discouragement presented itself on every hand. Children alone would not repay them for their untiring efforts, and their pledges received but few signatures, many of which were fictitious names. They were subject to jeers and insult from every one, and it required no little courage to face a crowd of men and boys who were continually shouting in derision. It was, however, hoped that a larger number of ladies would have a better effect; and yesterday's programme was that the entire force should unite and visit some of the saloons in a body. They met and organized in the basement of the M. E. Church, and about 2 o'clock started out on their mission of mercy. The first saloon visited was the "Mount Hood," on First street, between Taylor and Yamhill, owned and run by Thomas Sharkie. On entering at the door Tom invited them in with as much civility as he would a regular customer. They asked him if he would have any objection to their praying and singing in the room? "Certainly not," said Tom, and placed a bottle of "whisky straight" to an inquisitive trio who had followed the ladies in.

The outside crowd by this time were pressing into the room in great numbers, and the bar was closed to all but the ladies of the season. Drinks were ordered and paid for faster than they could be delivered, and the greatest excitement prevailed. The ladies meanwhile had started up a hymn, preceding which they had knelt down on the establishment to close up his business. The petition was regarded as an excellent joke, and treated as such. At the conclusion of the hymn the ladies dropped on their knees and offered a fervent prayer on behalf of their surroundings. The spectators drank to their success, and, although no direct insults were offered, many of the remarks must have had an unpleasant sound to refined ears. Another hymn was sung, and again the ladies knelt in prayer, the audience meanwhile drinking and carousing in regular bacon fashion. Matters were too much for the ladies, and at the conclusion of the second prayer they quietly returned to the church. A short time was spent in prayer and praise, and again they started forth. This time they entered the "Evening Call" saloon, on Second street, a crowd of probably 250 men and boys being in and around the place. If possible they met with more rebuffs here than at the former saloon, although no personal insults were offered. Their hymns and prayers were made sport of, and the liquor business was never better than it was while they were present. Again they retreated to the sanctuary and spent some time in devotional exercises, after which they dispersed to their various homes.

The results thus far have been anything but encouraging to the ladies. Saloon dealers have signified a willingness to close up unless able to sell out at cost prices. The ladies, however, seem determined, and present appearances indicate a heavy siege on the saloons. Some enthusiastic friends of the temperance cause assert that before the close of the present week there will be at least one hundred ladies in the field as active earnest workers. They intend reorganizing with more recruits, and seem determined to carry the cause through all hazards. They have friends all over the city who are earnestly praying that their efforts may be crowned with success, and the probabilities are that they will before the week is ended have a large force to operate. Time alone will solve the momentous question of the day.

TEMPERANCE PRAYER MEETING.

Last evening, as the hour approached for the opening of the Union Prayer Meeting at the M. E. Church, large crowds of anxious persons hurried along the streets toward the designated place, and by the time the hour arrived for commencement every seat in the capacious basement was filled and many were standing in the aisles and vestibule. The movement during the day seemed to make a feeling of general interest to be present to witness the first exercises of the silent aspects. The meeting was opened with singing or prayer, followed by a few remarks from the Rev. Mr. Eliot, which seemed with eloquence and impressive sentiment. Statements, impromptu or premeditated, were set forward and possible to continued, which were substantiated with the most conclusive argument. Rev. G. W. Dyer then addressed the congregation in glowing terms of hope and praise for the brilliant prospects of future success in our city. In the course of his remarks the following statistics concerning the amount of money spent for liquors in the United States during the year 1870 were read:

Imported and domestic distilled	$1,344,000,000
and spirituous liquors	1,000,000,000
Brewed and fermented liquors	15,000,000
Wine and cordials	5,000,000
Domestic wines
Total	$2,407,000,000

This amount is almost three times as large as the cost of flour and meal, and twice as large as that paid for flour, meat and sugar. Enough to build and place clothing, woolen goods, newspapers and job printing.

During that year Oregon contributed the sum of $2,201,242 to the traffic in alcohol, New York City had 7,000 saloons, which if placed in rows in direct lines would extend nine Broadway thirteen miles long, at which places $60,000,000 was spent. The quantity of distilled, fermented and brewed liquors drank in the United States during that year was sufficient to cover the entire city of Paris, fourteen feet wide and eighty miles long, and if all the drinkers could be placed in procession, five abbreast, they would make an army 130 miles long, and if those killed by the intemperate use of poisonous liquors were added to it, it would see a suicide at every five miles and 550 funerals per day. Other statistics interest were given and were equally astonishing to the audience. From them we can judge of the necessity and magnitude of the necessary to produce a reformation as well as the great curse which has fastened upon the habits of our people. The ladies will hold a prayer meeting at the usual place to-day, commencing at 3 P. M. A general prayer meeting will be opened at 10:30 A. M., which will probably continue during the remainder of the day. At the usual hour evening services will be commenced.

CHANGE OF TIME.—On and after Monday next the passenger trains on the Oregon Central Railroad will leave St. Joseph at 6 A. M. arriving here at 10 A. M., and returning, will leave Portland at 3 P. M. and arrive at St. Joseph at 7 P. M. This will enable our citizens to transact their business, and return home the same day, a fact that by them will be duly appreciated.

UNDER CHARTER.—The bark St. Patrick and the ship St. Nicholas have been chartered at New York to carry to this port and load grain for the United Kingdom, at £5 per ton. The former vessel was at Boston on the 16th inst., and the latter vessel was due at Boston from Marseilles. Both vessels are under agreement to arrive at this port by the 1st of December, to make their charters hold good.

QUINN, on Washington street, received last night a large lot of Columbia River smelt, and sells them three pounds for 25 cents.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

E. M. Waite, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, has furnished the Standard the following summary of business transacted at the meeting of Directors, held in Salem, March 17th:

The amount of business transacted at this meeting was not great, as a large portion of the ordinary annual business of the Society was disposed of at the meeting held last fall; but that which occupied the attention of the Board at this time consisted mainly of the preparation of the new premium list, which in the present edition comprises sundry changes in the different classes, is very important and of great interest to the Society. In the department of cattle a reduction in premiums has been made of some $900; Ayrshires, Holsteins and Jerseys being included in one division, and Devons or Herefords in another. This list, as revised, though less in amount, is far better arranged and calculated to give greater satisfaction to competitors.

In the department of horses the class of thoroughbreds has been amended by striking out sucking colts, adding brood mares and colts or with foal by side, and requiring all thoroughbred horses competing for premiums to trace their pedigree to the American or British Stud Book or the American Turf Register; or to show a three pure direct crosses on the side of both sire and dam. In this department a class was arranged for horses, mares and geldings for the premium list, designed especially for heavy farm and carriage horses, and also a class for light harness horses, and one for carriage horses was stricken out and a new one substituted, giving premiums for family buggy and saddle animals. The old class of roadsters was stricken out, which therefore offered premiums for sucking colts, yearlings, etc., shown in halters, and a new class substituted, giving premiums to stallions, geldings and fillies, and single and double carriage and buggy teams in harness.

The aggregate of premiums in the speed department was reduced about $1,400; still giving to the class of pacers and trotters in this department of the Fair the usual variety of trotting and running premiums, and has been so arranged as to save money to the Society and create interest and excitement in the trials.

The old class of sweepstakes for horses was also stricken out, and gold and silver medals and diplomas will be offered for the best stallion, mare, gelding and sucking colt.

In the department of swine and poultry the entire list of poultry was stricken out and a new one substituted.

The amount of all premiums for competition was reduced 10 per cent.; and new rules have been adopted for the admission of stock, which will be of material benefit to exhibitors. The programme, premium list, rules and regulations, act of incorporation, and the names of all the officers of the Society and the superintendents of the different departments were ordered to be published in pamphlet form, so that the public may know, in advance, what is to be transacted each day of the Fair.

The premiums of $10 and $5 on Winter and Spring wheat were stricken out, and premiums offered of $5 and $3 on eight varieties of wheat.

The premiums heretofore offered for the best cabinet of birds was stricken out, and premiums offered for the best exhibit of various birds destructive of fruit, vegetable and grain.

A long list of premiums was offered for articles in the misses' department and for boys under fourteen years of age.

The list of wild animals was changed, so that they are arranged in better proportion to the premiums offered.

The premiums for domestic manufactures were reduced in proportion to the premiums, medals, etc., for articles manufactured in the State and out of it.

The Executive Committee was authorized to procure wood on the grounds for the use of campers, to be sold at cost, and to make arrangements of delivery, to prevent the impositions that have been practiced for years, and the Secretary was authorized to procure the right of way for water pipes from Mill Creek to the Fair Grounds, and to procure a map of the shortest and most practicable route.

A Good Story.

An amusing story of an English nobleman, recently deceased, is told by the "Man About Town," in the English Sporting Gazette. We give it in his words:

The Duke was once in church, no matter where, when a collection was announced for some charitable object. The plate or bag, or whatever it might be, began to go round, and the Duke carefully put his hand into his pocket and took out a florin, which he held on the pew before him ready to transfer to the plate. Beside him sat a little snob, who, noticing this action, imitated it by ostentatiously laying a sovereign alongside the ducal florin. This was too much for his grace, who clipped his little friend's market again and pulled out another florin, which he laid by the side of his first. The little snob followed suit by laying another sovereign beside the first. His grace quietly added a third florin, which was capped by a third sovereign on the part of the little snob. Out came a fourth florin to swell the Duke's donation, upon the little snob triumphantly laid three sovereigns at once upon the board. The Duke felt he had been beaten with three florins. Just at this moment the plate arrived. The little snob took up his handful of sovereigns and contemptuously rattled them into the plate, then turned defiantly toward his rival, as who should say, "I have beaten you, and I have taken place since the information for the work was collected." The Duke quietly left the church.

Use of the Signal Office.

A dispatch from Cairo, March 18th, gives this:

Intelligence received from adjacent points report no damage done by the tornado which passed this locality, but a few of limited area. Eight houses were unroofed here, with a total loss of all, about $5,000. The river men took advantage of the hint from the United States Signal Office, and made everything secure before the hurricane came, thus escaping damage to the shipping.

James Parton says: "We must now accept it as an axiom, that universal suffrage, where one-third of the voters cannot read the language of the country they inhabit, tends to place the scoundrel class at the summit of affairs."

The schooner Jennie Thelin was wrecked on the bar at Empire City on the 6th inst. She was lying on a sand-spit at last accounts, with but little hope of getting off. She has been sold to Capt. McAllop as she lays, for $1,311.
